A Call From Joe

The first five paragraphs of this editorial were written while waiting for traffic signals to turn from red to green on Southwest Second Street at West Avenue A and Southwest Avenue B.

The idea came for it at the intersection of Northwest Second Street and West Canal Street North, while waiting for that traffic signal to turn green.

There's an old joke that irritation is when a stranger calls you at 3 a.m. and asks for Joe; that aggravation is when a second stranger calls ten minutes later and asks for Joe and frustration is when you get a third call in another five minutes to hear someone say, "This is Joe. Any calls?"

Well, Joe just called.

We came to the conclusion a long time ago that there is no way in the world, short of breaking the law, to synchronize our car's speed to the first two traffic signals mentioned.

And if a motorist can make it through all three, without having to wait at one of them, he's beaten the odds that would break the bank at Monte Carlo.

One initial reaction is to wonder why the city doesn't synchronize the blankety-blank lights but Police Chief Charles Goodlett said that has been ruled out in the past because of the high cost.

Very well.

But the city is paying Kimley-Horn and Associates of West Palm Beach some $30,000 to do a traffic study of the city, albeit the funds are coming from the state, and if synchronization is too expensive, something else should be done.

Like making West Avenue A and Southwest Avenue B between Main and Southwest Fourth Streets one way.

Like putting a yield or stop sign at West Canal Street North.

But do something.

Farmer's Farewell

It is a sad time. Another pioneer of the Glades, Donald W. (Pee-Wee) Kirchman died in his sleep last Tuesday afternoon.

Pee Wee had lived in the Glades for 53 years and in Belle Glade 52 of them. Like most pioneers who came here in the 20's he made his life farming.

He was one of the "little men" who made it possible for this country to become as great as it has become. He helped feed the nation just like thousands of other farmers around the United States did.

When it became less and less popular to be a farmer, he stuck with it. He along with the other pioneer farmers in the area laid a strong foundation for the growth of the Glades.

It is upon this foundation our community rests today—thanks to men like Pee Wee. As he was loved by everyone in life, so let him be remembered in death as a man to whom we all owe a great deal.

Scouts Clean Up

Did you know that Scouting has one of the most effective anti-pollution programs going? That during just one Saturday last year, more than 2,000 Scouts from coast to coast cleaned up more than a million tons of litter?

Did you know that Scouting also has a drug prevention program all its own that helps kids turn away from drugs and discover a "natural" high? That new Scouting merit badges include Environmental Science, Computers, Atomic Energy, Space Exploration, and Citizenship in the World?

Did you know that when we asked boys what they thought was most fun about Scouting, they said hiking and camping? Did you know that when we asked them what they thought was most important about Scouting, they said "to help you be prepared for life."

Did you know that for every boy in Scouting there's another boy who'd like to be, but can't? And that the reason most of them can't is because no adult in the neighborhood thinks Scouting's worth the time?

If you don't think Scouting's worth your time, please don't know enough about Scouting.

Wee Care Needs You

Dear Friends of WEE CARE:

In view of the June 1st deadline for our renewal application for the federal and state funds which constitute the principal support of our operation here at WEE CARE, we are again looking to our friends for the local contributions needed to be supplemented from these two outside sources.

We are coming through the current year in satisfactory condition due to the fact that the State of Florida assumed one half of our 25 per cent obligation for the "Eligible" which you will receive up to 80 per cent of registration. This gave us a much needed saving which enabled us to reach last year's goal for fiscal support.

We are glad to report the 20 per cent part of the program which is funded wholly by donations and fees has met our expectations in we very much appreciate the support of wish to continue this phase of the program. According to our best information it seems we can expect continuing assistance from the State. On this basis we now present to you our budget needs for the year 1974-75 in the amount of $115,000.00. The amount to be raised locally is $38,000.00. This constitutes a slight increase over the budget of the current year due largely to salary increases for our staff which are necessary because of the continuing rise in the living costs.

We thank you again for your past gifts and trust that your interest in WEE CARE will continue and, if possible, also your generous assistance. Naturally, our local effort in this respect becomes the life line for without it we cannot make application for the substantial matching funds (75 per cent) which complete our budget requirements.

Sincerely,
 WEE CARE, INC.

WHERE IN THE WORLD?

A GUIDE TO TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE OF GEOGRAPHY AND CURRENT EVENTS

Where is this city?
 CLURES: The capital of Bavaria and site of the 1972 Olympics. It's the home of the "Alte Fuggerei" — the most important museum in Europe, containing the oldest houses from the Middle Ages to the 18th century and the Deutsche Museum, which houses just about every mechanical gadget ever made by man.

In autumn occurs Oktoberfest, a beer drinker's holiday. All year there are two Holiday Inns with indoor pools, local or American food, and a nightly dance.

Pray For Washington, It Needs It

Pess up, now. Did you pray any longer or harder Tuesday than you did last Tuesday?

And, more important, did you feel any more humiliated than usual?

Surely, you know it was a national day of mourning, humility, disgrace and prayer. At least it was in the U.S. Senate and 32 of the 50 states, including Florida.

There was only one person who kept it from being unanimous and that was Rep. Ken Hechler, a Democrat from West-by-God-Virginia...and that's only because Hechler objects to all unanimous resolutions.

Yes, verily, a voice crying in the wilderness, Hechler made the astute observation that, "It doesn't take a dictate from Washington in order to pray."

Personally, I'll have to go along with Hechler. He sounds like a refreshing breath of sane air with his refusal on general principles to pass any old resolution making Feb. 28 a Nationally Belly Button Lint Picking Day.

He also strikes home on his comment on dictators and prayers and I doubt seriously whether anyone prayed Tuesday who wouldn't ordinarily have prayed during the normal course of events.

Unless you're like Peppermint Patty pleading with Powers That Be for One More Chance before the teachers call on you...but like she said, that kind of prayer will always be with us.

And it doesn't take a Mark Hatfield to let you know when that is, either. I plant would be the most desirable place to spend a weekend...right?

 Right!

Nor would it seem to be the most desirable place to spend a weekday, either. But there I was last week, dangling 150 feet off the ground over the city's treatment plant.

Well, I wasn't actually actually dangling and to tell the truth, it wasn't quite 150 feet off the ground...more like 45 feet.

But it was as well have been 150 feet; up in the air, over dear old Terra Firma; nothing down there between me and the truck, which looked like a hatchback toy, but air.

Matter of fact, I told James Goodlett, the city garage man who was waving me through the air like he was saying goodbye to someone who left yesterday, I was going to recommend him for one of the midway rides on the next carnival that comes through town.

Consider yourself recommended, James.

Got some good pictures of the plant though. You might have seen a couple of them on last week's front page and City Manager Bill used them and a few more in a presentation Thursday when he was trying to get the city's bidding moratorium lifted.

I'd asked Bill to take a ride to the plant to point out whatever it was that was supposed to have made the plant better after the recent modifications and the cherry picker was his idea.

So while I was cracking the fiberglas rim of the cherry picker bucket with Glades residents will sit through still another "progress" report on State Rd. 80 Wednesday night.

It's a bit difficult with the tensions here, writing about something before it happens, when it won't see the light of print until after the fact.

If you haven't followed me so far—don't worry—I just reread it and I don't understand it either. But then, why shouldn't a column on one of the biggest boondoggles in the state be just a bit confusing?

Wednesday night, May 1, the Department of Transportation will once again try to explain to us why it took a year longer than predicted to finish the half-mile test strip between here and South Bay. They will also tell us how lucky we are that money has been budgeted for most of the construction of the four-lane highway between Belle Glade and West Palm.

Of course, unless somebody tries to embarrass them by bringing it up, they will fail to mention that the road is scheduled for completion somewhere around 1985 or so. That is, unless of course, they haven't pushed it back a couple more years in the past few months.

Really, I've about given up on figuring it out the other day—if the rest of the road is built under the same time schedule as the first half mile it actually be four-laned somewhere around the year 2154.

Don't ask me for the mathematical formula I used to reach this figure—it's even more confusing than this column.

Really, I've about given up on the DOT and State Rd. 80. The federal government can spend $60,000 or so for the Postmaster General to send stamps to his friends, but they can't spend anything to save a few lives.

 One road which is getting top priority attention is U.S. 97 down the center of the state. It is the only road I can think of that really deserves top billing over State Rd. 80.

Oldest race horse in history was Hickory Jim. In 1891, when he ran his last race at the old Guttenberg track in New Jersey, he was 25 years old. That was like a 100-year-old man running a foot race!

While it doesn't play as much importance for Belle Glade as State Rd. 80 does, it does kill and injure a lot more people.

The family took a trip this past weekend to Highlands Hammock State Park just outside of Sebring. To get there you travel almost the entire way via U.S. 27. And except for a very short stretch the other side of Palmdale, it is four-laned all the way.

It makes for a nice trip and the park is really a treat. But the old saying about "small world, big city" stands up for the nature trails in the park as well.

Here we are, back in the swamps walking on a small wooden platform two feet wide and barely above the swamp and who should we bump into but Carolina Francis, of the Sugar Cane League in Clewiston and her husband Phil who works for Kelly Tractor. They had their three children along with them and were thoroughly enjoying the peace and serenity of the park.

It's only 100 miles away. This means you can get there and back on a tank of gas if you drive the speed limit.

 The funny thing about the meeting in West Palm last week with the Pollution Control Board and the city was that none of the rules the city had been told to play by several months ago are in effect now.

A court ordered the city to do what the Pollution Control Hearing Board directed them to do. The head of the pollution control people in the county at that time said the city didn't need a permit to do what it was ordered to do.

But now the pollution control people from Fort Lauderdale came in and said, oh yeah, forget the court order, forget what pollution control told you then, you need a permit and we are the only ones who can give it to you.

And yes, there is legislation before state senators now which would reorganize pollution control through out the state. Who's on first?

 Thursday, I covered the District One meeting of the state Society of the Loan Officers, mostly to find out something about insurance, and then Friday morning, I went up to Port St. Lucie to sit in on a convention on the State Society of Consulting Engineers.

A layman can get lost fast in surroundings like that. Just before the loan officers' meeting started, though, I had a pleasant surprise.

I was standing there, talking to Jim Leeman and Debbie Hedrick when walks (the son of the people who were my landlords in Fort Pierce about three years ago).

Blew my mind so bad I couldn't even remember his last name when I tried to introduce him.

Then Friday morning, I went on up to Port St. Lucie, mostly to try to keep my background filled in because the theme of the engineers' meeting was supposed to concern economy.

The first speaker was the primary ed. I wanted to hear. State Secretary of Transportation Walter Revels was supposed to talk about transportation in the immediate future.

When Revels started hauling out all those charts and graphs I suspected I may be on something less than firm ground but when he began sounding like a professor expounding on non-Euclidean mathematics, I knew I was in the wrong place.

Since the speakers who were following Revels were supposed to be getting more technical and more closely related to the problems of consulting engineers in the state, I decided to call it a day before they really began to bore me.

 I guess it's significant that while the Obligation of an Engineer, sort of a code of ethics, pledges engineers to a lot of things, including integrity, competence and a desire to be plied to speak in layman's terms.

Hoo, boy! Talk about covering special interest groups, I had my share this

New York—(HKO)—The right of all Americans to have access to directions and warnings on product labels was first affirmed in 1927, when the Congress passed the Federal Cautious Poison Act. Yet educational efforts are still attempting to make people more aware of the need to heed such information.

The theme of a current public service campaign from the medicine industry's Council on Family Health is "Read Label Directions." Medicinal Care Help You If You Don't Take Them Right. The Council's message includes examples of how labels are frequently ignored and what medicines are used carelessly or in haste.

★★★★Wendell Phillips 1852★★★★

Francis Scott Key had seen the American flag waving on a ocean and this most of his today probably gave very little thought to it or the way of life it symbolized. One morning, however, when this way of life was in jeopardy, he found himself standing on the shore in the early morning light as he across the water. Was the flag still waving? It was the only way he could know if the freedom he cherished was still his to enjoy. Here, it was especially important to him that the banner still waved above the remnants of the fort. The wags hope that it did still were inspired him to write the beautiful words of our National Anthem.

ENERGY SAVING BEAUTY TIPS

When the energy crisis hit us, most of us thought immediately about the obvious problems—gas for the car, fuel to heat our homes and to supply us with hot water, electricity for all those appliances we take for granted. Then, lining up at gas stations became a way of life—some people even started walking or bicycling and found it good exercise and fun. We turned down thermostats, used our washers only when we had a full load and learned to cook several dishes in the oven at the same time. We began to think about all the ways we had been wasting energy. It was surprising how quickly we all became energy aware.

Now that we're in the swing of it, why not carry it a step further? Have we been wasting our own personal energy and time, too? They go hand in hand—energy saving makes little time savers, too. A good place to start might be your own personal grooming routine.

In the tub or shower, for instance—did you know that's the best time to give yourself a facial? Steam opens the pores and helps your moisturizing cleanser do a better job. Apply skin cream lavishly before stepping into your bath and let the steam do its work while you bathe. Then rinse your face and pat dry. Just see how gloriously clean and soft your skin looks? Who said you haven't time for a facial?

Bath time is also the best time to give singing hair a quick pickup. Just roll up or make pin-curls in dry hair and let the steam do the work. By the time you're in and ready to go, your hair is ready to comb out.

When it comes to make-up, there's a great new shortcut from Cover Girl. A smoothly finished make-up usually takes two steps: first, a moisturizer, then make-up. But now you can cut make-up up time in half with Cover Girl's new Moisture Make-up, a special new formula with built-in moisture. It slips on smoothly and evenly without premoisturizing. Just one step instead of two for a velvety finished, pampered make-up. And Moisture Make-up has just the right amount of coverage to even out skin tone and hide tiny flaws. If you have dark under-eye circles (and we all do sometimes) Cover Girl's new Moisturizing Cover Stick has extra coverage needed to hide those telltale circles. It has built-in moisture, too, so it blends easily and gently on that delicate under-eye area.

No time for a regular exercise period? There are lots of ways to work exercise into your daily routine. Bending over from the waist while you're brushing your hair is not only good for your hair, it helps your waistline, too. Reaching for something on a high shelf can be turned into a great stretching exercise. If the shelf is too high, do a deep knee bend.

Once you start thinking about it, you'll discover new ways to achieve double results from your own time and energy. So get started now on your personal beauty conservation program!

Mrs. Marjorie Echols, who organized the first two March of Dimes Walkathons in the Glades, was named last week as vice president of the county board of directors for the March of Dimes.

Along with her new vice-president's position, Mrs. Echols was once again named coordinator of the Glades for the March and she said this week she is responsible for organizing a Glades advisory board and other activities.

"I'm particularly looking for people in the community," she said, "who aren't now involved in anything. There are a lot of people who have never been asked to do anything and there's a lot of talent going to waste."

"This is a win open field," she said, "There are so many things that have to be done." She said she is particularly interested in organizing some kind of youth action group to help raise funds as well as get involved in various activities. He said the group could be useful while still spending some of its energy in social activities. One of the ends toward which Mrs. Echols is working is Glades extension of the Palm Beach County genetics center, something she says she sees in the not-too-distant future.

"This would give the Glades a direct reason to work in the March of Dimes efforts," she said. "One of the first things I want to do is find out what our chances are of getting such a center out here."

Real Estate Law Course Set

Real Estate Law will be one of the featured courses during the first summer term at Palm Beach Junior College Glades Center when classes begin May 13.

Dr. Cecil Conley, the center's executive dean, said the registration period for the summer term is now open and students have until May 10 to register.

An Annual Event?

Glades Central Students Have Field Day Fun

Fun, footwork and foldover were the order of the day Thursday at Glades Central as the high school's physical education department put on a field day in Raider Stadium.

The phys ed coaches weren't able to cram in all the originally scheduled 16 events in the hour and 45 minutes allotted for the event but the junior class won the 14 events which were held.

While there was a representative sampling of actual athletic events, such as the 100 yard dash, the 250 yard relay and the 400 yard relay, most of the games were more for fun than anything else.

There was, for instance, the pie eating contest, which consisted more of seeing how much pie filling the contestants could smear on their faces than anything else.

And the Egg Drop, in which a team of girls attempted (they said) to drop a broken egg from where they stood in a chair into a cup clutched in the mouth of a boy laying on the ground.

By the end of the competition, most of the boys looked like their faces were ingredients for an omelet.

There was the usual three-legged race, the not-so-unusual sack race (in which teams of two ran in each sack) and the sleeping bag relay, in which the runners had to slide into a sleeping bag while they said home.

One of the more original competitions was the penny find, in which a dime, a nickel and a penny were hidden in a plastic wading pool half-filled with flour.

This was also one of the more spectacular events, as the penny hunters sent gusts of flour flying everywhere. In seconds the competitors were covered with flour and several of the bystanders looked like spooks.

Two of the events with the most interesting names, the inner tube relay and the balloon burst, remained mysterious because the field day simply ran out of time.

Several of the coaches commented on the speed of the girls running in the 100 yard dash and the 400 yard relay, giving the impression they could have started a girl's track team on the spot.

Members of the Glades Central Physical Education teaching staff said they hoped they would be able to make the field day an annual event to provide competition between the classes at the school.

IT'S EGGS AWAY! AS FOUR EGG-BARDIERS TAKE AIM ON TARGETS during the Glades Central High School Field Day last week in Raider Stadium.

IT LOOKED MORE LIKE A WHITE TORNADO THAN A PENNY FIND...as freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors sifted for coins in a pool of flour.

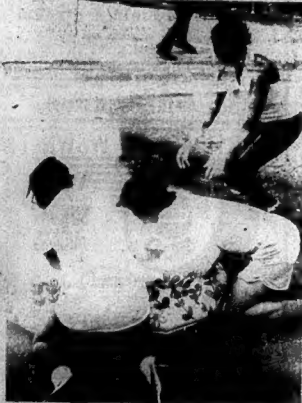

Guardsmen Away For Training

Belle Glade National Guardsmen were among the units of the 3rd Infantry Brigade beginning their two-week summer training session Sunday at Camp Blanding.

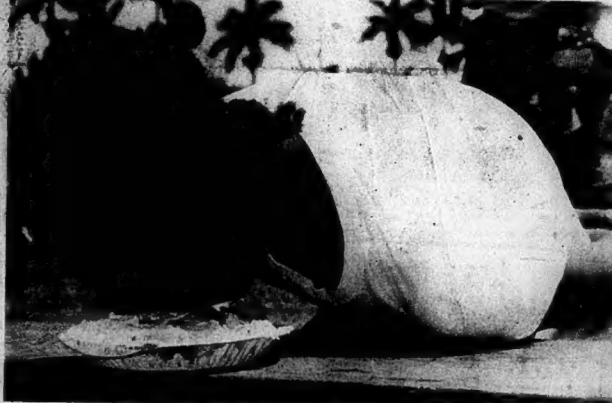

The Belle Glade Guardsmen were among members of Company B of the First of the 104th Infantry Battalion and they joined Guardsmen and Army Reservists from 19 Florida cities, East Point, Ga. and Tallahassee, Ala.

While the Guardsmen are at Camp Blanding, they will take part in the annual military parade, scheduled May 3 this year to honor retiring Brigadier General Vernon F. Sikes. The two-week session will end May 12.

Gov. Reubin Askew is expected to attend the ceremonies.

FLOUR IN THE FACE WAS ONE HAZARD HERE...as competitors dove for the dime, nickel and penny.

ONE FOR THE MONEY, TWO FOR THE SHOW, THREE TO GET READY...and pie to go and no hands. Mamma as the students licked all the pie this class.

Life Is Like A Bed Of Roses

When Mill H. Byrom of 124 N.W. Ave. H. Place retired four years ago, he may not have promised his wife, Evelyn, a rose garden but if he did, he delivered in style.

The Belle Glade Beautification Committee officially commended the Byroms last week on what must be one of the finest flower gardens in the area.

The beautification committee's recognition followed hard on the heels of several first place ribbons awarded the Byroms for entries they have made over the past couple of weeks in showing from here to Jacksonville.

Byrom said he and his wife were among the first members of the Greater West Palm Beach Rose Society and the couple brought back several blue ribbons from the show held on the coast three weeks ago.

These ribbons go well with the ribbons and ever hard won the following week at another rose show in Jacksonville and help give testimony to the work done by Byrom in his garden.

Mrs. Byrom said that, except for a one hour break, Byrom spends the entire day working among his flowers, caring for them, cleaning, grafting and fertilizing the growing garden. Byrom said he has approximately 150 different varieties of roses in the garden, counting 50 to 75 seedlings, each of which is a separate variety in itself.

He said he has never sold any of the varieties he has bred commercially but said he has considered approaching a commercial house with one or two of the plants he has grown.

"To be really accepted," he said, "a rose has to be really unique in size, shape, color or something. Before I could anything off, I want to make sure it's really good."

Mrs. Byrom said she and her husband have lived in Belle Glade off and on for a number of years and at one time, he was employed at the Experimental Station.

"We started the garden years ago," she said, "but before he retired, we were transferred for a couple of years to Jamaica and while we were gone, everything went to seed. We had to start all over again. The flowers now in bloom range in color from white and yellow through various shades of pink to deep, scarlet reds and vary in size from tiny flowers to plants more than a head-breadth across.

Tefertiller To Speak

Dr. K.R. Tefertiller will be one of the featured speakers during the annual Vegetable Crops Field Day on May 9 in his first appearance in the Glades since being named vice-president of agricultural affairs at the University of Florida.

The field day is scheduled to take place beginning at 9 a.m. at the Agricultural Research and Education Center according to Dr. D.W. Beardsley, director of the center.

Dr. Tefertiller will be the last speaker before lunch during the field day and will speak on agricultural growth in an urban area. Other subjects to be presented will include weed control, the control of insects in several areas, vegetable nutrition and a series of talks on potatoes by Dr. V.L. Gurman as well as a discussion on developing new varieties of sweet corn by Emil Wolf. During the afternoon, the visiting scientists and growers will tour experimental plots operated by various researchers at the center.

ARTHUR BENYARD DIDN'T GET PIE IN SKY...but he did get something out of the pie-eating game.

Wilson, Allen Receive Athletic Awards

Anthony Wilson was named Wrestler of the Year and Marvin Allen received the Most Valuable Player in basketball at Glades Central High School's First Annual Winter Athletic Awards Banquet.

The banquet took place April 24, as Athletic Director Paul Dee put it, "because our program is getting too big for just one banquet."

In making the MVP award to Allen, Coach Willie McDonald said Allen only began playing basketball in his junior year.

In his senior year, McDonald said Allen marked higher than anyone else on the team in scoring and assists and came in second in rebounds.

For his efforts, Allen was named this year to the All-Conference Team, the All-Region Team, the All-State Team and has been selected as an entry to the Prep All-America Basketball Team yearbook.

Allen was the second Raider this year to make the Prep All-America roster, following Jerry Clark, who made it in football.

Other trophies McDonald bestowed went to Lloyd Haffenden for Unsung Hero and to David Jones as the Most Improved Basketball player for the Raiders.

McDonald was also high in his praise of the basketball team as a whole and said he was looking forward to next year, when he can expect four of his five starters from this year to return, along with a number of players from this year's unbeaten junior varsity team.

But if Coach McDonald was high on the basketball team, Coach William Denny was just as enthused about his wrestling team.

In it's third year of competition, Denny's wrestling team which took eight of four matches this year and won the county wrestling tournament while sending four grapplers to the state tournament. Denny said Wilson won the Wrestler of the Year Award on the strength of his 2-1-1 season.

He also lauded three other wrestlers, awarding each of them trophies. Winners were Clark Lloyd, Ronald Collins and Clarence Brown.

MARVIN ALLEN RECEIVES MOST VALUABLE PLAYER AWARD HERE during first annual winter athletic awards banquet held at Glades Central high.

Tackle Testers Organized

The recently organized Lake Okechobee Tackle Testers, an affiliated chapter of the national Bass Anglers Sportsman Society, announced this week they will hold their first fishing tournament Saturday.

Leaving from Pahokee Harbor, the tournament will begin at 8:30 a.m. and final weigh-in will be at 8 p.m.

The contestants will be members of the club and the guest tournament partners.

There will be a fish fry for the contestants and their families at the Pahokee State Park, where awards will be given for most total pounds of bass caught per boat and the largest bass.

The bassmasters are expecting the tournament to pave the way for future events, not only between members of the club, but between different clubs in the South Florida area. It could also extend to father-son fishing program.

For anyone interested in getting into the tournament, Lake Okechobee Tackle Testers membership applications will be taken at the office under the Pahokee City Pool Monday, June 3 at 8 p.m.

Membership applications may also be mailed to the club at 1279 Wedgewood Road in Belle Glade, according to club secretary Stephen W. Hill.

COACH WILLIAM DENNY RECEIVED A SOUL SHAKE FOR A TROPHY last week when he named Anthony Wilson Wrestler of the Year for the Raiders.

Glades Central scored another first in its rather short life span by staging a Field Day for all of the students last Thursday.

Among the events were contests like the Egg Throw, where a team of a boy and a girl toss an egg back and forth between each other. If each succeeds in catching it, they move back 5 yards; until someone misses it.

There was only one problem here. Prior to the Egg Throw, they had an Egg Drop where a team of girls tried to drop a broken egg into the cup held in a boy's mouth, while he was laying on the ground.

It was harder than they imagined and as a result they only had four eggs left after the event—and one of them cracked at that. Imagine trying to toss a cracked egg and catching it without it breaking!

Poor David Jones, since he was on the track team, he wasn't allowed to compete because they were afraid he would break an arm. But you can't blame him when he hollered about not being able to participate in the relay. Speaking of the relay, a lot of kids had sore feet after running because of going barefoot on that asphalt. That's enough to tear anyone's feet up after going on it at full speed.

One of the most interesting races had to be the Penny Find. A wading pool was half filled with flour and a dime, nickel and penny were hidden in it. The flour contestants had to sift and scour through the pool looking for the coins. As you can see by the pictures, flour went everywhere. Soon the contestants and some of the bystanders were choking from it and soon everyone was white. Whoever found the dime came in first place, the nickel was second, and the penny was third. And of course, it left one of the students out in the cold.

The one who put the events together really had some original minds such as the sack race. Sure the sack race has been around for ages, but two in one sack? Now that really took some doing.

Unfortunately there wasn't enough time to have all of the events planned, but there was enough entertainment for everyone with 14 that were staged. And in the end the Junior class came out on top. Congratulations Juniors, I hope you have as much luck next year.

Last week I mentioned something about an exercise class might be started but sorry to tell you girls who might have become interested in it—the plans fell through.

We were going to try to use the Glades Central's gymnasium but it seems the school wouldn't let us since it wasn't a school functioned activity. But don't give up hope yet. We're still trying to work out a way to have it after all. I'll let you know if anything develops.

Religious Overseas Aid Helps Feed Hungry Kids

The haunting beauty of this child's eyes would have dimmed—then dulled from hunger—and the youngster might have died—if help had not come from one of America's three great faiths—Protestant, Catholic or Jewish.

Each year the three faiths conduct a national symbolic appeal together via press, television and radio while raising funds separately in their own places of worship. Millions of needy children and grown-ups overseas are helped year-around by Church World Service (Protestant), Catholic Relief Services and the United Jewish Appeal.

You can help through your place of worship. These three appeals are, respectively, the Protestant "One Great Hour of Sharing," the "American Catholic Overseas Aid Fund," and the United Jewish Appeal.

The Parson Pontificates

When will we mortals wake up to the fact that we cannot successfully run our own lives. We are not made to be our own gods, we are made to be servants of the true God. The man who insists on his own way without regard to God's will for his life winds up in the hog pen with the Prodigal. Many a man has determined to be free to do as he pleases, only to find himself in bondage to habits that were loathsome even to himself. The only true freedom in the world is the freedom to do right. We find that freedom is surrender to the Christ. Otherwise we are, as Jesus said, "Sheep without a shepherd." You know what happens to sheep without a shepherd; they wander off aimlessly, and become prey for the predators. The wolves and wild dogs get them!

Thought For The Day

Read Matthew 26:17-30

"This is my blood, the blood of the covenant, shed for many for the forgiveness of sin." (Matthew 26:28)

Years ago in a Connecticut church, I attended an unusually significant Maundy Thursday service. In the candle-lit fellowship hall, we sat at long tables covered with white cloths and set with individual servings of the elements. The only words spoken in this solemnity came from pre-arranged readers of scriptural passages appropriate to the Last Supper. I felt the presence of Christ, who had initiated this sacrament.

This Lenten commemoration of the Last Supper is important to me. I can relate to John, who loved the Master and was loved in return. But I am also like Peter, who vowed loyalty to Christ, and then forsook Him, as I have carelessly done from time to time. The very humanness of these men who supped with Jesus continues to add hope to my life.

"How I have longed to eat this Passover with you before my death!" Jesus exclaimed to His disciples. We can share this meal with Him, too, but with the joyful knowledge the Easter victory lies just ahead.

PRAYER: Thank You, Lord, for the memory of that Last Supper, for its inspiration and promise of hope and forgiveness. Amen.

Thought For The Day
Christ lives on Maundy Thursday as surely as on Easter Sunday.

Infant Baptism Held

Unusual vows were made at a recent service of Christian Baptism at Everglades Presbyterian Church.

The sacrament of Baptism was administered to Jonathan David Meyers, born May 2, 1974. He is the first-born son of Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Meyers, of Belle Glade.

Accepting the vows as godparents, were Mr. & Mrs. Joseph McIlwain, of Pahokee. During the ceremony the parents unreservedly dedicated their infant son, Jonathan to God, promising to bring him up in the Christian faith, and leading him to accept Christ as his personal Savior of his own accord, when he grows to years of understanding.

The unusual vow accepted by the godparents, was the promise to bring up the child as if he were a Jew, for we should this ever become necessary through the loss of the natural parents.

The sacrament of Baptism was administered by the pastor, the Rev. Abe Cator, assisted by Rolling Elder Robert Wood, of Everglades Presbyterian Church.

You Can Believe in Dreams

Millenniums ago mankind dreamed of one merciful God, and prophesied a Messiah.

And God came as an infant, lived as a man and brought belief to dreams of everlasting life.

Centuries ago men dreamed of an independent America, founded on faith and dedicated to democratic ideals.

And men believed in this dream and took action. They declared independence, and wrote the Constitution of the United States.

Decades ago pioneers dreamed of towns and villages dreamed of cities, and made their dreams come true.

Everything we have and hold dear today started as a dream. Our gracious homes. Our multiple churches. Our busy shopping centers. Our hospitals, our new inns and motels.

All were dreams yesterday, realities today.

Yes, we can believe in dreams. Your dream of everlasting life. Your dream of a greater America. Your dream of a growing community. Your dream of yourself as part of it all.

You can make your dreams come true as you help others realize their dreams. You'll find the way at your place of worship this week.

Accidental Poisoning

It is estimated that in the coming year, 600,000 children will accidentally ingest poisonous or potentially poisonous substances. Ninety per cent of all cases involve children under 5 years of age. Substances that most frequently cause such harm are medicines and household preparations, including cleaning fluids, insect sprays, lighter fluid, and some furniture polishes as well as turpentine, kerosene, paint, and solvents and products containing lye and acids. Aspirin is still the leading item involved in childhood poisonings.

And don't depend on your ability to watch the toddler as an effective poison preventative. It is shocking that 95 per cent of poisonings of children under five occur while they are under the supervision of parents or other responsible adults. Be aware of the hazards and keep them out of the reach of children.
